CHRISTIAN MARCLAY.

COMPOSITIONS

Responding to the context of Barcelona as a centre of experimental music, this exhibition explores the work of acclaimed artist Christian Marclay (b. 1955), presenting a selection of works focusing on his sound compositions, from graphic scores to video installations.

Marclay investigates the relationship between sound and vision and explores the ways that sound can be manifest visually. The exhibition examines Marclay's interest in composition and his involvement with performance, participation and collaboration. Through his redeployment of popular sources, such as comics or movies, and his tendency to traverse traditional hierarchies, he also presents a subtle and subversive humour.
